"It'll take a long time for it to get crowded. Europe used to run on wood and that was finite, but nobody worries about it today because they're into smarter things." He shrugged. "It's the same with everything else. The human mind is an infinite resource, and that's all you need." .was neither. In time, this fire of self-loathing burned out, leaving the ashes of depression. .Anita held on to Colman's finger, and he read her action as a silent invitation. He had slept with her a few times, many months ago now, and enjoyed it. However much he had found himself becoming aroused by her attention through the evening, the conversation about pairings and the imminence of planetfall introduced a risk of misinterpretation that hadn't applied before. Being able to look forward to making a stable and permanent domestic start on Chiron could well be what lurked at the back of Anita's mind. When he got the chance, he decided, he would have to whisper the word to Hanlon to help him out if the need arose as the evening wore on. "What alternative?". When she rounded the end of the bed, she saw the pet-shop terror where she had left it, stacked in. The proceedings were broadcast live throughout the ship and across the planetary communications net, and the audience physically present constituted the largest gathering that the Congressional Hall had ever had. All of the. The other two followed his gaze to a Chironian wearing coveralls and a green hat with a red feather in it, painting the lower part of a wall of one of the houses. Near him was a machine on legs, a clutter of containers, valves, and tubes at one end, bristling with drills, saws, and miscellaneous attachments at the other. A ground vehicle with a multisectioned extensible arm supporting a work platform was parked in front; and from a few yards to one side of the painter, a paint-smeared robot, looking very much like an inexperienced apprentice, watched him studiously. The Chironian was as old as any that Colman had seen, with a brown, weathered face, but what intrigued Colman even more was the house itself, which was built after the pattern of dwellings on Earth a hundred years earlier--constructed from real wood, and coated with paint. It was not the first such anachronism that he had seen in. Franklin, where designs three centuries old coexisted quite happily alongside maglev ears and genetically modified plants, but he hadn't had an opportunity to stop and study one before. .In the years that followed after Jay and then later Marie were born, she had tried to stay abreast of her career by attending lectures and classes in Princeton and by setting herself a reading program, but as time went by, her attendance became less frequent and the reading was continually put off to tomorrows that she knew would never come. She found that she read articles on home-building instead of on the mechanism of DNA transcription, identified more readily with images projected by light domestic comedies from the databank than by tutorials on cell differentiation, and spent more time with the friends who swapped recipes than the ones who debated inheritance statistics. But she had raised two children that her standards told her she had every right to be proud of. She was entitled to rewards for the sacrifices she had made. And now Chiron was threatening to steal the rewards away. .POINT NORDAY WAS twenty-five miles or so north of Franklin, beyond the far headland of Mandel Bay, on a rocky stretch of coastline indented by a river estuary that widened about a large island and several smaller ones. In the early days of the colony, when the Founders first began to venture out of the original base to explore their surroundings on foot, they had found it to be approximately a day's travel north of Franklin. "I never said it had to make sense." Sirocco brought his elbows up level with his shoulders, stretched. for a few seconds, and sighed. After a short silence he cocked a curious eye in Colman's direction. "So... what's the latest with that cutie from Brigade?". "Well-meaning but useless," Leilani interrupted. She seemed to be speaking from experience. "Anyway. ". "I guess we buy our own drinks," Hanlon said, draining the last of his beer and setting his glass down on the table. "Looks like it," Stanislaw agreed. .to consider the taste? as though she has drunk orange juice before. .hamburger patties, eggs, and mounds of crispy hash browns glistening with oil. .STARSHIP COMMAND CENTER, CAPTAIN CURTIS HAMMOND. .Pernak waited for a moment longer, then put down his fork and leaned across the table. "On Chiron, wealth is competence!" he said. "Haven't you noticed--they work hard, and whatever they do, they do as well as they know how--and they try to get better all the time. It doesn't matter so much what they do as long as it's good. And everybody appreciates it. That's their currency--recognition, as you said. . . . recognition of competence." He shrugged and spread his hands. "And it makes a lot of sense. You just told us that's what everyone wants anyway. Well, Chironians pay it direct instead of indirectly through symbols. Why make life complicated?". .couldn't be ignored any more than you could ignore an asteroid the size of Texas hurtling at Earth with. Jay shrugged. A gleam of hope had come into Lechat's eyes. "Do you really think they might be able to pull something off?". "There's only one. You wait a few days, then you tell the wife you followed the congressman all over. .Colman grinned and drank from the glass. "Not quite that bad. But some of them do have pretty funny ideas- or did have, anyway. A lot of people couldn't imagine that kids brought up by machines could be anything else but. . . . 'inhuman,' I guess you'd call it-cold, that kind of thing. ". She nodded, then after a few seconds said, "Casey will have fit!". "He's quite the philosopher. ". "I had to scrap one set. " lay sighed. "I guess it's hack to square one on another. That's what I reckon I'll start today. ". "You'll find a way," one of the Chironians at the table said, not sounding perturbed. . "Sucky day, Aunt Gen. In memory she saw the fury-tightened face of. Bernard couldn't see why Pernak had changed his mind. "I thought you and Eve had things all figured out before you took off," he said as they continued talking over after dinner drinks around the sunken area of floor on one side of the lounge. "Look what's happening-you've left, other people are leaving all over. You were right. Just leave the situation alone and let it straighten itself out. ". Behind the truck, the highway remains deserted. The parallel median lines, yellow in daylight, appear. But first things had to come first. It was time to begin mobilizing the potential allies he had been quietly sounding out and cultivating for the three years since the last decisions. He replaced the Korean porcelain carefully in its recess among the bookshelves and walked through the lounge to the patio, where Celia was sitting in a recliner with a portable compad on her lap, composing a note to one of her friends. "Yes," Sal replied. "Forty years ago this was just a few domes and a shuttle port. The main base that you came in through was only built about ten years ago. Back in the early days, the Founders started changing the designs that had been programmed into the Kuan-yin's computers, and the machines did their best to comply." She sighed. "And this is what it ended up like. We could change it, of course, but most people seem to prefer it the way they've always known it. There were some ghastly mistakes at times, but at least it taught us to think things through properly early on in 'life. The other towns farther out are all more recent and a lot tidier, but they're all different in their own ways." "Eating that stuff right before bed," Noah told him, "you're sure to have sweet dreams." "So where do we go from here?" Borftein asked, returning to the subject in an effort to defuse the atmosphere. Jay appeared more reassured, and his eyes brightened a fraction with the relief of having been spared long explanations. "It's all screwed up," he replied simply. "Some of your mother's boyfriends? Two words carried a heavier load than any of the freight trains that Micky had imagined escaping on. Mean "pert, smart, jaunty" rather than "insolent, rude, impudent." Walking the line between the right kind. "There's also beer. Your uncle Vernon liked two icy beers more evenings than not." Popping open a Budweiser, Micky returned to her chair. "Aunt Gen, this sensitive junkie from Chicago. As the snake slithered along the wall and under the tall chest of drawers, Sinsemilla bounced on the bed. Minute, deeper than mere night. The eve of her birthday would violate Preston's code of ethics, and he was as serious about his ethics as Micky seemed cold enough to freeze droplets of sweat into beads of ice upon her brow. "Got any better ideas?" For once Swley didn't. Women in his way as if they are mere furniture. His partner isn't immediately behind him, and might be. However, were the bashing of the side window, Noah's eruption from the Chevy, and the gleeful capering. These are not rich people, and he feels guilty about taking their money. One day, if he lives long enough. Nevertheless, instinctively he crouches when the lights point toward him, making himself no taller than. "You'd like Constance Tavenall," he said. "If you'd had a chance to grow up, I think you'd have been a. This isn't the ideal ride, but Curtis isn't likely to luck into a cushy berth on another automobile transport. "You too." The image vanished from the screen. "Yes, Jay. Evolution is a continual process of more ordered and complex systems emerging from simpler ones in a series of consecutive phases. First there was physical evolution, then atomic, then chemical, then biological, then animal, then human, and today we have the evolution of human societies." Pernak's face writhed to take on a different expression for each class as he spoke. "In each phase new relationships and properties come into being which can only be expressed in the context of that higher level. They can't be expressed in terms of the processes operating at lower levels." "Nine months. The nineteenth of November. Luki's birthday was the twentieth. He would have been ten. But he had to stay, as Sirocco and the 80 percent of D Company who were still in Phoenix had to stay. After Swley went, Driscoll went, and many of the others went, Sirocco had called the rest together and reminded them about the weapons in the Mayflower 11. "If the kind of people who are starting to come out -of the Woodwork now get their hands on those weapons, we could have a catastrophe that would end civilization across this whole planet. You've all seen what's happening back on Earth. Well, the same mentalities are here too, and they're panicking. We must keep enough of the Army together to stop anything like that if we have to." And so they had stayed. The other members of Red section in the row of seats to the left of him and those of Blue section sitting with Hanlon and Sirocco in the row ahead were strangely silent as they watched the screen where the bright half-disk of Chiron hung in the background: the first real-time view of a planet that some of them had ever seen. Farther back along the cabin, reflecting the planned order of emergence, General Portney was sitting in the center of a group of brass-bedecked senior officers, and behind them Amery Farnhill was tense and dry-lipped among his retinue of civilian diplomatic staff and assistants. In the rear, the SD troops were grim and silent in steel helmets and combat uniforms festooned with grenades, propping their machine rifles and assault cannon between their knees. The thought of a shower was appealing; but the reality would be unpleasant. The cramped bathroom had. "So it could take a while," Colman said. "I didn't realize anyone got embarrassed about anything anymore. In this case, it just means 'as bad as a. He's at too great a distance for those beams to expose him.
